Auditors' Report.

EXETER, Feb. 24, 1909.

We have this day examined the accounts rendered by the highway agent and find he has received, as above detailed, twelve thousand two hundred eighty-five 12-100 dollars ($12,285.12) and expended twelve thousand two hundred fifty-three 23-100 dollars ($12,253.23), leaving a balance of thirty-one 89-100 dollars ($31.89) in his hands. But see memorandum below.

LEONARD F. SMITH,
ARTHUR O. FULLER,

Auditors.

Included in this account is the sum of $249.75, which does not represent cash — but a mere arbitrary value put upon sewer pipe bought by the town years ago, and probably entered in highway agent's report at the time of purchase.

REMARKS.

At the steamer house there has been a new stable built, providing new quarters for the horses, with nicely arranged stalls and spring doors, making it much more convenient for a quick hitch; also a room for the battery, which has been changed from the old gravity type to a new up-to-date storage battery, with switch-board and motor generator, which assures the correct and satisfactory working of the same.

At hose No. 3, the building has been built 10 feet longer, making additional room for hitching team, handling hose, etc., which is greatly appreciated.

One new box, No. 35, has been placed in the Seminary building, the expense of same having been paid by the Seminary.

With the exception of a few cross arms, all the construction is in first-class condition.

In conclusion I desire to extend my sincere thanks to the engineers and firemen for the faithful discharge of their duties and promptness at fires. To the superintendent of the fire alarm, George B. Shaw, for the faithful discharge of his duties, and the interest shown for this department, and to H. L. Eaton, manager of the People's Telephone Co., for his present to the department of a receipted bill for a telephone at the steamer house for the past year. To Chief of Police Gooch and his officers for the many ways in which they have assisted me; and to the superintendent of lights of the Electric company for kindly assistance and courtesy shown.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE H. CARTER, Chief Engineer.

The Robinson Seminary.

PRINCIPAL'S REPORT.

TO THE HONORABLE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF ROBINSON SEMINARY:

The enrollment of pupils in the Seminary the present school year is the largest since the school was established. The entering class, numbering 59, is larger by 20 than the entering class in 1905. This fact makes conditions extremely unsatisfactory. The teachers having charge of the two lower classes are not able to teach properly, as they must conduct recitations with divisions of over fifty pupils for forty minutes, or of over twenty-five pupils for twenty minutes. By either arrangement less than one minute each day in one recitation can be devoted to each pupil. This means that good work cannot be expected. There is great need of another teacher to take charge of the first class, if the eight classes now in school are retained. Four teachers of the Academic department, in addition to the teachers of music and drawing, already have work with the lower classes and could not, without sacrifice in the quality of work they are now doing, take a sufficient number of classes to make conditions much better.

It is evident that there is imperative need of some action which shall remedy the over crowded conditions in the two lower classes.

That it is not advisable to accomplish this result by excluding tuition pupils, is equally evident. There is no tuition pupil in the two lower classes, hence the out of town pupils are in no way responsible for the overcrowding in these classes. As the number of non resident pupils in each of the six upper classes averages only 7.5, they have little effect on the number of teachers required. If they are excluded it might be possible to reduce the teaching force by one teacher, and save $700, but, at the same time, at least $1,800 would be lost in tuition money.

Though there are many who believe that boys and girls should be separated in class room work during the high school period, so called, yet there is almost universal agreement that separation during the grammar school period is unwise and unwarranted.

If the separation of the sexes in Exeter could be delayed until the end of the seventh grade, far better facilities than are now possible could be provided for the pupils in the Seminary.

The opportunities for instruction in the domestic arts and sciences could be extended much further than at present, and should be planned for in the near future.

A business course, to include stenography, typewriting, banking, business arithmetic, commercial law, commercial geography and book-keeping, might then be added. This step seems to me not only the one which is at present the most practical and most desired, but the one which would best meet the wish of the founder, who in his will said,—“The course of instruction should be such as will tend to make female scholars equal to all the practical duties of life; such a course of education as will enable them to compete, and successfully, too, with their brothers throughout the world, when they have to take their part in the actual of life.”

Since we accept the gift of Mr. Robinson, we are in honor bound to respect his wishes and make the school course what he desired. No one is likely to contend that in retaining the pupils in the two lower classes, who are 10 or 12 years old, we are fitting them for the “actual of life.” Moreover, that it is unreasonable to retain these classes for the benefit of the girls who might never attend the Seminary, if the course were limited to six years, is seen from the fact that during the last three years (1905-1908) there have been only 12 girls who have left school during the first two years of the course, an average of four each year or two each year in each of the two lower classes.

This small number is made up of pupils who have the greatest difficulty with school work.

In view of the fact that, if the number of classes were limited to six, there would be an average of only four pupils each year who would not be compelled by law to attend the Seminary, it is obvious that the school curriculum would be of real benefit to a much greater number of pupils, if it contained a business course; and it seems manifestly unwise to retain eight classes, when by so doing, the establishment of such a course is prevented.

Since a business course is desired, not only by a majority of the trustees but also by a large number of other Exeter citizens, it may be well for the town to know that a committee appointed by the board of trustees last year found that the current income of the Seminary did not warrant the establishing of such a course.

Through the appointment of Miss Alice M. Kilbourne to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Mary B. Stocking, the work in cooking has been conducted in a very acceptable manner.

The classes in History and Latin, which were last year in charge of Miss Marie de Rochemont, have been taught with a marked degree of success by Miss Clara M. Burleigh, who was elected to the position in June.

All the other teachers accepted re-election and have worked in perfect harmony for the success of the school. The splendid team work of the faculty and the earnest endeavor of each instructor to do the best work of which she is capable have produced results in the higher classes which have been warmly praised by people who have seen the work.

Like results could be realized in the lower classes, if the overcrowded conditions were remedied.

With hearty appreciation of the sympathetic support accorded me by the board of trustees I am,

Respectfully yours,

HARLAN M. BISBEE.

We have this day examined the foregoing accounts of Albert N. Dow, treasurer, and we find them correctly cast and vouched. WILLIAM BURLINGAME,
JOHN A. BROWN,
CHARLES H. MERRILL,
W. H. FOLSOM,

Trustees of Robinson Female Seminary.

Public Library Report.

The books in the library, excluding the Perry collection, number at present 15,131.

The total number of books given out during the past year was 30,022, classified as follows: Fiction, 17,719; juvenile department, 6,110; historical, scientific and general literary subjects, 6,093. Three hundred and forty-four new books have been added, 227 of these being credited to the Merrill funds.

Four hundred and thirty-six cards have been issued during the current year, 239 to townspeople and 197 to students of the Academy.

The committee desire to express their appreciation of the services of the librarian and her assistants. Miss Grace Button was chosen as assistant librarian to succeed Miss Adelaide Smith, whose resignation took effect January 1st, 1909. The committee would ask that the annual appropriation of two thousand dollars for the uses of the library be continued for the present year.

Especial attention is called to the fact that the present collection of books, magazines and pamphlets more than fills the shelves of the library. Some few years ago, by special appropriation of $150.00, three new bookcases were installed in the reference room and one in the stack room. This has afforded only a temporary relief. The attic is crowded with books, many of value, which should be in the reference room, and the stacks in the library proper are filled to their capacity. The surplusage of the town fund of $2,000.00, deducting running expenses, and the whole of the Merrill funds provide books, for which no suitable places can be found.
